OFFICE OF THE BISHOP

August 20, 2007

Dear Parent or Guardian,

In our Jubilee Year, I am pleased to present these Catechetical Standards for the Diocese of San Jose. I am grateful to the diocesan Catechetical Advisory Board, and in particular, to the members of the Catechetical Standards Committee, for all that they have done for our Diocese to develop a solid set of competencies for Kindergarten through Eighth Grade.

The parish community recognizes that you have already laid a foundation and nurtured faith in your home. As the primary educators of your children, you have been entrusted with the responsibility of sowing the seeds of faith. In addition to transmitting the living faith, however, our children must also be able to see that we, ourselves, are living our faith. We should never underestimate the value of our own example and the words we speak. Regular participation in Sunday mass and active involvement in the parish community shapes the identity and the faith of your children.

The Diocesan Catechetical Standards will strengthen the partnership that exists between the home and the parish so that children and youth will be able to develop life-giving relationships with Christ and his Church. Not only will these standards enable parents, clergy, catechetical directors/coordinators, catechists, and the entire parish to see what is expected at each grade level, but the standards will also support them in their efforts to contribute to the faith formation process.

Even young children should know that from us, they can receive the authentic teaching of the Church. At the same time, because their many questions may be difficult to answer, you—as parents—will need to seek continuing formation and education to be up to the task.

It is my hope that these Catechetical Standards will assist all who teach children about their faith—parents, clergy, and catechists—to do so fully, faithfully, and confidently.

With every best wish and kind regard, I remain,

Sincerely yours,

Patrick J. McGrath
Bishop of San Jose

Introduction

In September 2003, the Catechetical Advisory Board indicated a need to develop a set of age-level competencies for the catechetical programs of the Diocese of San Jose to identify the basic things that need to be learned taught and celebrated for children in grades 1–8. The Catechetical Advisory Board charged the Ad-Hoc committee for Age-Level Standards to draft competencies for grades 1–8. The committee worked for three years and completed the draft in March 2006. Two consultations with catechetical leaders took place in April 2006. The second stage of this plan will develop competencies for the older adolescent in high school and for adults.

Clear and realistic expectations are important for everyone involved in the process of helping children and youth grow in faith and in an understanding of the Catholic tradition — what we believe, how we live, how we pray and celebrate. Diocesan Catechetical Standards will allow pastors, catechetical directors/coordinators, parents, catechists and the entire parish to see what is expected at each level and enable them to contribute to the faith formation process. They will also promote consistency in catechetical programs across the diocese.

The partnership of home and parish is the ground for nurturing faith. Diocesan Catechetical Standards will strengthen the partnership between the primary educators of children – their parents—and the supporting educators – pastors and catechists – so that children and youth will develop life-giving relationships with Christ and his Church.

The committee identified seven categories for the formation of youth in their Catholic faith. Each category includes specific grade level competencies that every youth should know and be able to demonstrate. Through the level standards, the curriculum will be based on stated and desired competencies.

Acknowledgments

The level standards committee of the Diocese of San Jose used the following resources to develop these level standards for grades 1–8.
