FLEXIBLE SPENDING ACCOUNT

Paying for Unreimbursed Health Care Expenses With Pre-Tax Payroll Deductions

Health FSA Basics

The Health Care Flexible Spending Account (HFSA) allows you to set aside a portion of your salary, before-tax, to reimburse certain amounts expended for medical care.

Participating in the Health Care Flexible Spending Account can help save you money on taxes since the money you set aside is not subject to federal income or Social Security tax. This allows you to benefit from more of the money you earn.

Your annual HFSA contribution may not exceed $2,700 (for 2019, as indexed for inflation each year). Your annual contribution may be further limited by your employer's plan.

What are Eligible HFSA Expenses?

You may be reimbursed from your health care FSA for expenses related to medical care, only. An amount spent on general good health is not considered a medical expense. In general, an expense is for medical care if it is incurred to diagnose, cure, mitigate, treat, or prevent disease or affect any structure or function of the body.

If an expense is not clearly for medical care, or if it has both a medical care and non-medical care purpose, your doctor must document, in writing, that it is medically necessary.

Your HFSA may not reimburse insurance premiums or expenses that are paid from other medical, dental or vision plan coverage.

Whose Expenses are Eligible for Reimbursement?

A medical expense must be incurred by an employee, the employee's spouse, or the employee's tax dependent for health coverage purposes in order for the expense to be reimbursed from the HFSA.

Expenses of an employee's child who has not attained age 27 as of the end of the employee's taxable year may also be eligible for reimbursement. Refer to your plan for more details.

How Does the HFSA Work?

The HFSA will allow you to set aside before-tax dollars from your paycheck to pay for your out-of-pocket medical care expenses.

To participate in the HFSA, you must designate the total amount you would like to contribute for the plan year. A portion of your total contribution will be deducted from each paycheck you receive during the plan year. When you incur an eligible medical expense, simply submit a claim form and proper documentation and you will be reimbursed tax free from the account.

When making your calculation, it is important to conservatively estimate the expenses that you plan to incur within the plan year. According to IRS regulations, any money remaining in your account at the end of the plan year will be forfeited. Your plan may, in certain circumstances, allow you to carryover up to $500 of unused funds to be used in the next plan year before unused amounts are forfeited. Alternatively, your plan may allow you to continue to incur claims during a grace period of up to 2-1/2 months into the next plan year before unused amounts are forfeited.

Please check with your plan to see if either of these features apply to your HFSA.

The plan may set a time limit (generally 3 months) after the plan year to submit your expenses for reimbursement.

Can I Change my Election?

Because of the special tax advantages that the HFSA provides, the IRS places certain restrictions on contributions to and distributions from the HFSA.

Once you authorize deposits to the HFSA for the plan year, federal rules prohibit you from stopping or changing your election until the next plan year, unless you experience a "Change of Status Event" recognized by your plan.

Rules to Remember

If you do not use the money you contribute to your HFSA for medical care expenses you incur during the plan year (and grace period, if applicable) you lose it (except for the allowable carryover amount, if any).

If your plan has the carryover option, the carryover amount will not be available for you to use until after the time limit for submitting expenses for reimbursement for the prior plan year has passed.

	Without HFSA Plan After Tax	With HFSA Plan Before Tax
Annual Gross Pay	$30,000.00	$30,000.00
Before-tax Health Expense	0.00	-1,000.00
Taxable Gross Pay	$30,000.00	$29,000.00
Federal Income Tax (25%)	-7,500.00	-7,250.00
FICA Tax (7.65%)*	-2,295.00	-2,218.50
After-tax Health Care Expense	-1,000.00	0.00
Net Take-home Pay	$19,205.00	$19,531.00

TOTAL ANNUAL SAVINGS: $326.50

*Note - The FICA tax rate may differ from 7.65%. Consult your tax advisor.

Examples of Change in Status Events

- Change in legal marital status
- Change in number of dependents
- Change in employment status of employee, spouse or dependent that affects eligibility
- Reduction or increase in hours of employment of employee, spouse or that affects eligibility
- Dependent satisfies (or ceases to satisfy) eligibility requirements
- Change pursuant to a judgment, decree or order
- Medicare or Medicaid entitlement

If you do not use the money you deposit in the HFSA for expenses you incur during the plan year (and grace period, if any), any remaining amount cannot be returned to you at the end of the plan year. If your plan includes a carryover feature, you may be able to use up to $500 in the next plan year.

Examples of Eligible Expenses

- Deductibles and co-pay amounts under medical plans
- Dental and orthodontic expenses
- Vision exams, glasses, contact lenses
- Prescription medication and supplies
- Physical and mental therapy for medical care
- Chiropractic care
- Laboratory fees

This is a partial list, for illustrative purposes only. All medical expenses must be properly substantiated, consistent with IRS guidelines, in order to be reimbursed from your HFSA.

Worksheet

Use the list below as a guide to estimate your out-of-pocket expenses for the following items in the next year. You may want to review your checkbook from past years for an indication of how often some expected and unexpected expenses occur. The items listed below are only a few of the many items eligible for reimbursement from the HFSA. For a more comprehensive list, refer to "IRS Publication 502, Medical and Dental Expenses." Please note that Publication 502 gives an overview of medical expenses, but not all items identified in Publication 502 may be reimbursed from your HFSA (for example, a premium payment is not an eligible HFSA expense).
